

Aldermen Criticise Condition Of Streets

Verbally and by Resolution They Call Attention to Holes in Pavements, and Appoint Committee to Wait on Public Works Board—Approve Purchase of Bower Land—Other Matters.

The fact that many of the streets in the city are filled with holes was brought up Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the common council when the aldermen both verbally and by resolution called attention to the condition of the city's pavements and appointed a committee of three aldermen to wait on the board of public works and ascertain why that board was not carrying out the recommendations of the council in regard to the repairing of certain streets. The council also approved the purchase of the land of Louis A. Bower on the Boulevard for the sum of $2,750, and transacted other business before adjourning.

Rejected Holden Claim.
Corporation Counsel Chris J. Tanagan sent in a communication to the council recommending that the claim of Mrs. Edith Holden and her husband, Otis Holden, be rejected. Mrs. Holden in her claim said she was injured in a fall on Hasbrouck avenue on January 10 of this year, and asked $5,000 damages from the city. Her husband asked $1,000 damages for loss of his wife's services. The recommendation of the corporation counsel was unanimously approved by the council.

Manor Avenue Sewer.
The laws and rules committee reported it had met with the members of the board of public works on Monday evening to consider the petition of residents of Manor avenue who objected to what they claim are excessive assessments for the construction of a sewer in that street. It was decided to hold a conference with the property owners who will be asked to meet with the board as soon as Mayor Carey is able to be at and present at the meeting.

Bad Acoustics in Hall.
Harriet B. Kemble, corresponding secretary of the Federated Women's Clubs of the city wrote that there were many who would like to attend the meetings of the council but that owing to the acoustics of the meeting room it was impossible to hear the proceedings, and asked if something could not be done to improve the acoustics. The Federation also approved Alderman Doherty's suggestion that the city take some action to induce industries to locate in Kingston.

Should Hang Draperies.
Alderman Schwenk in reply to questions from C. J. Heitsman, presiding officer, said he had taken the matter of acoustics up with men of the telephone company and they had advised him that the best results would be obtained by the hanging of draperies instead of the stringing of wires in the council chambers.

Committee to Report.
Alderman Haines moved that the matter be referred to the building committee to investigate and for that committee to submit an estimate of the cost of improving the acoustics of the room at the next meeting of the council. The resolution was adopted.

Approve Bower Purchase.
The council unanimously granted permission to the board of public works to issue a note or certificate of indebtedness in the sum of $2,750 to pay Louis A. Bower for that part of his land taken by the city for the purpose of improving the Boulevard. About 30 men from the emergency work relief bureau are now at work on the Boulevard project and the number will be increased.

Traffic Control Reports.
The traffic control committee reported in favor of a stop sign being placed at Lindley avenue and East Union street; a caution sign at North Street and Delaware avenue; a stop sign at Hasbrouck avenue and East Union street; a stop sign at Grand Street and Smith avenue; that larger school signs be placed near all city schools, and that the matter of a stop and go sign at Broadway, Henry and O'Neil streets, be referred to the chief of police and city engineer for further study.

Hasbrouck Ave. Checkboard.
The attack on the condition of the city streets was led by Alderman Epstein of the Sixth ward who introduced another resolution that something be done to repair Hasbrouck avenue from Murray street to the Strand. Alderman Epstein said that some of the holes in the pavement had been there for over a year. He said that the street had been torn up by a gas company, and that the avenue from Murray street to the Strand resembled a huge checkboard. The matter is not funny, he said, and should have immediate attention. He said he did not know whether the gas company or the board of public works was to blame for the condition of the street, but something should be done as it was a dangerous situation.

Conway Suggests Bill Ulster County Jail To Prevent Increased Taxes For New Homes

To the Editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, New York.

Dear Sir: There can be little doubt that our economic ills are aggravated by hoarding and that any measure which will stimulate the sound investment of money will go a long way in easing the oppressive burden on business and give some ray of light to the laboring class in this dark hour.

The necessity for the bank holiday furnishes concrete evidence of the extent and the effect of hoarding. Within the boundaries of our own country, the wheels of once feverishly active industry have ceased to turn, while competent, industrious laborers seek in vain a chance to earn their way. A large number of these men were once engaged in building construction while our local industries were taxed to their capacity in the production of the best building materials.

With these thoughts in mind Assembly bill No. 1620 was drafted and submitted for legislative consideration. It is not offered as the panacea for all our ills but to a limited degree may act as a sedative. This bill desired to take advantage of its terms, exempt from increased assessments for a period of three years the real property of any home owner who builds his dwellings in these times, provided he applied for such exemption and established by affidavit that he had used in the construction, materials manufactured or produced within the state in so far as the same are readily obtainable, and further, that only local labor was used.

While this scheme is not novel it has the advantage of having once been tried and as the experience of the city of New York under a similar measure was quite satisfactory, it is reasonable to suppose that beneficial results may accrue to other communities from its application.

There can be little doubt that a large number of people have for a long time saved for the purpose of building their own homes and are now in the financial position to realize their dream. Even though the present low cost appeals to them as a substantial reason for their immediate commencement of such construction, they hesitate to act because of the "hog" taxes. It may well be said that such hesitancy is due to a mild form of hysteria but this is no answer to our problem. By the removal of the cause of such unreasoned fear only, can they be induced to avail themselves of the decided advantages which the present day market offers to them. The taxpayers of today will lose nothing since the contemplated homes will never materialize except under a measure such as this, but under the provision of this proposed law, industry, labor and the home owner will receive immediately a substantial and lasting assistance in permanent betterment which at the close of the three year period would definitely relieve the over-burdened taxpayer.

Yours very truly,
J. EDWARD CONWAY
Dated March 7, 1933.
Albany, New York.

Mr. Conway's proposal follows:
An Act.

To amend the tax law in relation to the exemption from increase in local taxation of improvements of dwelling houses used for residential purposes, and repealing section four-b relating to exemption from local taxation of new buildings erected for dwelling purposes.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:
Section 1. Section four-b of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter nine hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred twenty and last amended by chapter eighty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred twenty-four, is hereby repealed, and a new section four-b is added in place thereof, to read as follows:

§ 4-b. Exemption of improvements from increased taxation. The legislative body of a county, or the legislative body of a city having a population of less than five hundred thousand, with the approval of the board of estimate and apportionment, if there be one in such city, or the governing board of a town, village or school district may determine that until January first, nineteen hundred and thirty-six, improvements completed after January first, nineteen hundred and thirty-three on dwelling houses used for residential purposes exclusively, except hotels, shall be exempt from increases in taxation for local purposes other than for assessments for local improvements during construction and so long as used by intended to be used exclusively for dwelling purposes, provided the owner of such dwelling house shall have filed his affidavit, or if the facts are not within his knowledge, the affidavit of the person or corporation performing the work of such improvement, with such legislative body of such county or city or with such governing body of such town, village or school district, to the effect that all labor and material used in such improvement was procured from within the state, or if any labor or material for such improvement was procured from without the state, that such labor or material, as the case may be, could not be procured within the state for the purpose or in the quantity or quality necessary to perform the work of such improvement.

State Commission of Correction Reports Conditions Found at County Jail—Holds County Pays for Food of City Prisoners and is Responsible for Them.

The State Commission of Correction approved on March 5 the following reports of inspection of the Ulster County jail:

Inspected February 23, 1933. John H. Saxe, Sheriff. There are also a jailer and assistant, a night jailer and assistant, a matron and cook. The under-sheriff is generally at the desk in the office during the day.

The population at the time of inspection was 25, classified as follows:

| | Adults | Minors | Total |
|--------|--------|--------|-------|
| Male | 15 | 2 | 17 |
| Female | 1 | 1 | 2 |
| Total | 16 | 3 | 19 |

The highest number in custody since January 1, 1933, was 40, the lowest 25, and the average 31. The prisoners were all properly classified. Five trustees were sleeping in the boiler room and a room adjoining it in the basement.

The jail does not contain a visitor's room nor any consultation rooms for the use of attorneys. Formerly, visitors were taken into the jail and permitted to talk through the bars separating the guards' and prisoners' corridors. This is no longer permitted. There are two steel gates in the main corridor leading to the jail from the Court House, with considerable space between. The prisoners are kept in the rear of the gate nearest the jail and the visitors are in front of the gate nearest the Court House, so it would be difficult to pass contraband as it would have to be thrown over the space between the gates. This arrangement is apparently the best that can be made unless a regular visiting room is installed.

All packages for prisoners are examined in the office before being turned over to the prisoners and all mail is censored, it was stated. Personal property is listed and placed in the safe until the prisoners leave the jail.

Gates Locked at Night.
It was said that all gates both in and outside the jail are locked at night, that the prisoners are locked in their cells at 9 p. m., and that the key to the main entrance always remains in the custody of an officer outside the main entrance. It is impossible to take too much care in keeping the gates locked. It is much better to suffer a little inconvenience than to take a chance. Practically all the recent escapes from county jails have been the result of carelessness in locking doors and gates. Too much confidence in trustees, or inadequate supervision.

The bunks and beds are equipped with mattresses, blankets, sheets and pillows with slips. All were in good condition. The bunks in the cells in the basement, which are used for police prisoners, should be provided with waterproof-covered mattresses which were generally used in police stations where metal bunks are installed; they are sanitary and more economical than a regular mattress. Each prisoner must have his bed made up before 9 a. m., and it must be kept in good order during the day. The sheets and pillow slips are changed once a week and each incoming prisoner receives a clean outfit. Each prisoner is provided with a tin cup which he keeps in his cell.

The present supply of towels is inadequate. It was stated that the needed supply would be purchased. The locking devices were examined and with two slight exceptions, which it was said would be immediately remedied, were in good condition. There is generally a prisoner in custody who is able to cut prisoners' hair, so that the services of a barber are seldom required. Safety razors are used by the prisoners and it was stated that the blades are immediately taken from them after shaving.

Attention has been called in former reports of inspection to the need of a receiving room where prisoners can bathe and be given clean clothes before being placed in the cells. The jail has no sterilizer and jail officials feel that the installation of one would materially aid in keeping the jail in sanitary condition. In many of the jails of the state institution clothing, consisting of overalls and shirts of khaki, are issued to the sentenced prisoners and the practice has been found to be both sanitary and economical. They are easily washed and it is not necessary to supply outgoing prisoners with new clothing, as the clothes in which they were received are in good condition. Clothing is now furnished the prisoners by the county when needed.

The laundry equipment consists of three trays and an electric washer; the washer has been in use about six months. These would not be adequate with a large population. The kitchen is in the basement and the equipment was in good condition.

Expansion Of Nation's Currency Planned To Obviate Use Of Scrip

The Banking Outlook

(By The Associated Press.)

With gradually lessening restrictions, the bank holiday will be continued until congress passes new legislation.

Meanwhile gold can not be paid out, but banks depositing gold with the Federal Reserve Bank will receive in return currency which they can pay out now for necessities.

New currency also will be issued against other reserves made available under the Glass-Steagall bill.

Maximum use of currency (other than gold) is intended, keeping use of scrip to a minimum.

Both the present emergency regulations and the permanent legislation are being framed to keep the strong banks doing business, rather than to bolster actually insolvent institutions.

Local Banks Asked To Send In Gold

Request Received From Treasury Department to Send Supply of Gold and Gold Certificates to Federal Reserve Bank in New York.

Kingston banks have received a request from the treasury department to send in to the Federal Reserve Bank in New York city their supply of gold and gold certificates, which request has been complied with.

The bank holiday in Kingston has not worked any great hardship, although it has proven an inconvenience to many. Owing to the fact that the banks have remained open for the purpose of making change there has been no shortage of small change in Kingston for business purposes.

The closing of the banks, however, has led many people to conserve what little supply of actual currency they had on hand, and they are expecting it mostly for necessities.

The banks are allowed to receive new deposits, but these must be in cash and no checks are received. Business men and others who have accepted payment in checks for merchandise sold or services rendered will have to hold the checks until the bank holiday ends when the checks may be deposited as usual.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES 92 YEARS OLD TODAY

Washington, March 8. (AP).—Ninety-two years old today was Oliver Wendell Holmes, jurist, lecturer, lawyer and now principally a practitioner of the art of leisurely living.

His birthday didn't mean for him, as it might for some, a visit to the Supreme Court to receive the congratulations of those with whom he worked so long as a justice. It meant, instead, that soon spring and summer would be here and he could extend his automobile rides to the Virginia Civil War battlefields he loved and on which he was wound several times as a Massachusetts volunteer.

APPEAL OF ANTONIO LOPEZ BEFORE COURT OF APPEALS

Albany, N. Y., March 8. (AP).—The appeal of Antonio Lopez of New York city from a conviction of first degree murder was laid before the Court of Appeals today.

Lopez was sentenced to death last November by the Court of General Sessions, New York county, for the murder of James R. Goodwin, a New York city policeman.

The shooting occurred on Feb. 15, 1932, when Lopez and two other men were alleged to have entered a drug store near Amsterdam avenue and 165th street for a holdup and were frustrated by Goodwin, who happened to be in the store.

REPORT GOOD ADVANCE SALE OF TICKETS FOR MINSTRELS

Members of the Craftsmen's Club of Kingston Lodge No. 10 report an unexpectedly good advance sale of tickets for the opening of their minstrels at the V. M. C. A. Auditorium this evening. They state that indications are that they will have a full house for their opening night. The show will be repeated Thursday night.

The special feature of the show this year will be the musical program including a band under the leadership of Paul Zucca and numerous choruses, trio and solo numbers.

Prisoner Was Discharged.
Frank Principe of Washington avenue, arrested on a warrant sworn out by Fred S. Hughes, who charged Principe with disorderly conduct, was discharged after a hearing in police court before Judge Callahan this morning.

Thursday Is Last Day.
Thursday is the last day that the first half of the general city tax may be paid without the addition of the 2 per cent fee.

Treasury Receipts.
Washington, March 8. (AP).—Treasury receipts for March 6 were $15,529,596.15; expenditures $44,558,150.55; balance $129,391,911.25. Customs duties for six days of March were $5,052,418.15.

Local Scrip May Be Used on Permission Of Secretary Woodin

President Roosevelt Will Retain Control of Banks—No National Scrip Planned—Details for Expansion Not Announced—Survey of Situation.

Washington, March 8. (AP).—Plans sped forward today for expansion of the nation's currency to obviate the general use of scrip during the national emergency, in which President Roosevelt will keep a firm hand upon the banking system.

At the White House, the treasury and the Capitol, the Chief Executive and congressional and financial leaders worked at the remedies that will be employed to relieve the situation.

From these word emerged this afternoon that the President would retain his control of the nation's banks until permanent legislation has been enacted; that this program would be expedited through the special session which meets tomorrow; and that no national plan for the use of scrip was contemplated, but that its use would not be forbidden in communities and sections where special conditions called for it to be employed.

Each locality using scrip would have to be permitted to do so by Secretary Woodin.

After a meeting with Mr. Roosevelt, Governor Ritchie of Maryland said no federal scrip would be issued, but he planned to go ahead with its issuance in his state, where needed.

There were no details as to the form of currency expansion that would be employed, but it was pointed out that under existing law Federal Reserve banks are permitted to issue currency backed by government securities.

Survey of Situation

(By The Associated Press.)
Abandonment of plans to issue scrip or clearing house certificates as a medium of exchange during the banking holiday was indicated today by Secretary Woodin of the treasury who said actual currency would be circulated instead to relieve the money shortage that followed the closing of the nation's financial institutions.

While the secretary did not make public the plan under which additional currency would be made available, an announcement of details was expected before Friday, the day fixed by him when scrip and clearing house certificates could be issued in New York and other states that had ordered them printed. There had been indications that the facilities of the Federal Reserve System would be used to provide currency.

Banking institutions in many localities resumed business today on a restricted basis as the Federal Reserve banks were authorized to re-open and help relieve the problems of its member institutions to a limited degree. The extent to which banks resumed operations varied in some instances being confined to making change but others took advantage of the Treasury Department's rules to accept deposits and allow withdrawals for payrolls and necessities of life.

Announcement was made that President Roosevelt intends to continue his command of the monetary situation until permanent legislation is possible and that a new proclamation is due on Thursday night when the present national holiday ends.

In his message to the special session of Congress on Thursday Mr. Roosevelt is expected to ask for broad powers to meet the situation. From high quarters of the British government it was learned the situation in America in no way affected Great Britain's policy with regard to the gold standard. No return to a gold base is contemplated at this time.

Canadian markets remained firm. Representatives of Chicago Board of Trade and other grain exchanges asked permission to operate for both cash and future trading. The wholesale price of fresh pork dropped in Chicago. In many states wide banking powers were given either to governors or to local superintendents. Bartering increased.

KINGSBURG BROTHERS ARE RETIRING FROM BUSINESS

The Kingsburg Brothers, who have been established in the retail tobacco business at 15 East Strand, are planning to retire from business. The store was opened in 1892, just 41 years ago, by Isaac Kingsburg and his brother, Jacob. Isaac Kingsburg died several months ago. It is understood that the lease on the store building expires in April, and that Mr. Kingsburg expects to have his stock disposed of before that time.

MINNESOTA DEMANDS PERMISSION TO USE PLAN

St. Paul, March 8. (AP).—Governor Floyd B. Olson, in a message to President Roosevelt demanded that Minnesota be given permission to use a certificate currency plan and reopen its banks under limitations fixed by the state banking commissioner.

Smith In Command Of Scrip Machinery. Awaits Word to "Go"

New York, March 8 (AP).—Alfred Smith's hand was at the controls today as he moved new machinery for printing the people of New York state with scrip got ready to go.

There was no definite indication, however, as to when the command "Go" would be given or whether it would be given at all. There is a proviso that makes the plans for New York state dependent on what President Roosevelt takes toward emergency currency for the nation.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, newly made dictator of New York banks, named Smith as chairman of the Emergency Certificate Corporation last night after the legislature had approved the set-up of the corporation. The organization, under strict state control, would issue certificates against the sound assets of banks.

The scrip would not conflict with that planned by the Clearing House Association, Lehman said. It would serve sections and people that the clearing house scrip would be inadequate to serve, in his opinion.

Lehman announced that besides Smith other incorporators and directors of the new corporation would be: Former Governor Nathan L. Miller, Lincoln Cromwell, acting president of the Merchants' Association of New York city; Jerome D. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse

Post-Standard; and Robert Jackson, Jameson attorney.

The governor, engaged in a strenuous round of conferences at his home, said that the state scrip would not go into circulation before Friday at the earliest.

EX-KAISER ELIMINATES SELF IN GERMANY MONARCHY TALK

London, March 8 (AP).—AET president of Former Kaiser Wilhelm II seeking to regain the throne of imperial Germany as a result of recent events there was said today to have vanished through the former sovereign's own act.

If the London Daily Mail's correspondent at Doorn, Holland, is accurately informed, Wilhelm Hohenzollern has completely and voluntarily abandoned the aim with which he has so often been credited—again wielding power over his own people.

Instead he is reported seeking peace in the privacy of his castle at Homburg Vor Der Hohe, the famous mineral spring resort in Hesse-Nassau. He was 74 years old in January.

This request to return to Germany was said to be the special mission undertaken by his second wife, Princess Hermine, when she recently went to Berlin from their exile residence in Doorn. She was reported seeking sanction of the plan from the new powers in Germany.

Any anxiety the ex-Kaiser may have felt concerning the attitude of his sons toward his abandonment of claims to the throne was reportedly removed by a kind of confirmatory document of abdication. At a recent family council in Doorn, the sons were reported to have turned over all their "rights" to the throne to the ex-crown prince for his disposal.

Commission Reports On City Jail Problem

Commission Believes City Should Have Own Jail and Not Rely On County Jail

Commissioner of Correction, J. Allen Wood, chief of police.

Inspected February 23, 1933.

The number of arrests during the year was 1,953, of whom 53 were women.

It was stated that the police do not care for lodgers; they are housed in the county jail and many are kept by the Salvation Army.

The city of Kingston has no place that can properly be designated as a city jail. There are four cells in the basement of the city hall, which are used for police prisoners, and two headquarters are located. The latter are modern cells, properly equipped, but their installation was never approved by the State Commission of Correction, as that body believed their installation was a mistake and that the city should have provided the much needed city jail when the city hall was reconstructed. This city and Hudson are the only ones in the state which have no police jail for the care of city prisoners. Practically all the prisoners detained by the police are taken to the cells in the county jail, and the cells in the city hall are used only for prisoners awaiting appearance in court or transfer to the county jail.

The matter of detaining police prisoners in the county jail is discussed in the report of inspection of that institution of even date.

The city should provide an adequate and proper city jail and care for its own prisoners, and not pass the expense on to the county.

Respectfully submitted,
PHILIP G. ROOSA,
Assistant Secretary.

County Jail Improved Reports Commission

Prisoners are given three meals a day. The bill of fare attached to this report for King shows that the food is good and the ration ample.

The room meal was well cooked and appetizing. This is one of three county jails in the state where the fee system of feeding prisoners prevails. The sheriff is allowed forty-five cents a day for food for each inmate. This matter has been fully discussed in former reports of inspection and is taken in detail in the report dated May 25, 1931. The State Commission of Correction believes the fee system should be abolished and that the food for prisoners should be purchased and paid for by the county and the bills audited in the same manner as other county charges. The following statement shows that the present method of feeding prisoners is not as economical as the method suggested by the Commission.

The counties shown in the following table are somewhat similar in population to Ulster county and all contain at least one city of the third class. In Chemung county some police prisoners are sent to the county jail.

| Name of County | Population 1930 | Male | Female | Total | Cost per week for board of a prisoner |
|----------------|-----------------|-------|--------|-------|---------------------------------------|
| Cattaraugus | 72,295 | 268 | 51 | 319 | $2.25 |
| Chemung | 14,450 | 1,227 | 51 | 1,278 | $2.25 |
| Jefferson | 33,374 | 633 | 24 | 657 | $2.25 |
| St. Lawrence | 22,571 | 1,053 | 20 | 1,073 | $2.25 |
| Steuben | 22,571 | 1,053 | 20 | 1,073 | $2.25 |
| Ulster | 50,155 | 1,197 | 62 | 1,259 | $2.25 |

If the fee system should be abolished and the city of Kingston be compelled to care for its own prisoners, the cost of maintaining this jail should be considerably less.

Five trustees are employed and when they work outside the jail, it was stated, are under constant supervision.

The matron is in charge of the women's jail and retains the keys.

The jail physician visits the jail when called. Prisoners are examined by him on admission and when the request is made by the jail officials. Prisoners are permitted to have newspapers and magazines.

The jailer's record was well kept.

Painted and New Door

Since the last inspection the interior of the basement has been painted and an additional grated door has been placed at the entrance of the corridor leading from the entrance hall of the court house to the jail.

The matter of installing new toilets in this jail to replace the obsolete niche toilets should be taken up by the Board of Supervisors as soon as the financial situation will permit.

In a report of inspection made in 1931 the following statement was made:

"In the basement of this jail is a large pen which is used for lodgers, and four cells used for the detention of persons arrested by the police of the city of Kingston. The police officers bring their prisoners to the jail and they are left in the custody of the sheriff. They are fed at the expense of the county. The use of any part of a county jail for the detention of city or village prisoners is a very questionable arrangement and is placing a responsibility on the county officials which belongs to the city. The county of Ulster maintains the prisoners of the city of Kingston—a duty which clearly belongs to the municipal authorities."

The Attorney General, under date of March 8, 1932, advised the State Commission of Correction relative to police prisoners sent to a county jail before arraignment as follows:

"Section 96 of the County Law states that the purposes for which county jails shall be used and provided throughout that only persons duly committed may be confined therein. In order to legally commit any person for any reason he must first be arraigned."

Under this opinion, the detention of police prisoners in the Ulster County Jail under present conditions is clearly irregular.

The matter of providing proper fencing around the jail is again called to the attention of the Board of Supervisors.

Women's Jail.

The room on the third floor in the front of the old jail building which is now the women's jail, is still used for the detention of juveniles. The report of the sheriff for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, shows that 18 male and three female juveniles were detained during that period. The attention of the Board of Supervisors is again directed to Section 21 of the Children's Court Act.

When the present tin dishes and cups are worn out they should be replaced with aluminum ones, which can be purchased of the State Department of Correction. These are much more sanitary than the tin ones.

A bar or screen should be placed in front of the windows at the ends of the corridors on the third floor to keep persons from slipping into the opening between the floor and the side walls.

The jail was very clean and in excellent condition throughout. The discipline is much better and the officials are to be commended for the general improvement in conditions.

It is believed that the suggestions made in this report are constructive and if carried out will result in improving the condition and administration of the jail.

Respectfully submitted,
PHILIP G. ROOSA,
Assistant Secretary.

Dairymen Oppose State Milk Control

On Tuesday 40 dairymen from all parts of Ulster county met at the Advance restaurant to consider and discuss the bill recently introduced into the state legislature for the control of the entire milk industry by a board of three men. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson acted as chairman of the meeting. After careful consideration of the matter, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Representatives of 600 producers of milk in Ulster county met in Kingston on the 7th day of March 1933 and had the Pitcher State Milk Control Bill carefully read and explained to them and took a position decided to oppose to this or any similar bill for state control of the milk industry, and instructed the undersigned committee to so inform their representatives in the legislature, and further decided to send a delegation of at least 40 to the hearing on the above mentioned bill on March 14 in opposition thereto.

CLINTONDALE

Clinton, March 8.—Miss Florence Terwilliger and Miss Malena Terwilliger were Thursday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wager of 2111 street.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lund have returned to their home in Stamford, Conn., after some time spent with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cole.

A very delightful surprise party was tendered Perry Schoonmaker on the occasion of his birthday at the home of his brother, John Schoonmaker, on Wednesday evening. For Every Manish Costume There Is One Just as Feminine

A LACE RUFFLED BODICE

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

The afternoon costume is fashioned of gray sheer crepe in a novel city wear, the bodice having a very feminine look in its combination of matching net and Valenciennes lace. The little jacket, illustrated in the small figure, fits casually at the neckline.

Crisp Organdie and Taffeta

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

The taffeta model at right fits in with promotions of feminine styles, concurrently with mannish types. This one adds a full, pleated ruffle to the bodice, and the slashed sleeves of the organdie outlining a bosom qualifying this model for more formal wear.

Skirts Take the Center of the Stage

With the Paris opening reports for spring, 1933, all in the marked attention given to skirts draws the eye of the observer to the waistline and the variation of silhouette. The emphasis relating to skirts brings his portion of the costume again to the spotlight. In the high-bosom and uplift movement, special construction interest has been centered on the bodice. This represents a definite change in style emphasis.

Secret service agents were first assigned to protect the President after the assassination of President McKinley in 1901. Prior to that time it was the custom to designate guards for the President only as occasion arose.

Aldermen Criticize Condition Of Streets

Attention to the condition of the streets and said he noticed that many streets had been torn up by the gas company and were still unrepaved. He asked that something be done in regard to repaving the curb where the new street built on Mary's avenue joined with West Chester street. This curb had never been replaced and made conditions bad for traffic as auto springs were liable to be broken by riding the depression in the street.

Committee Appointed

After some further discussion Alderman Epstein moved that the chair appoint a committee to attend the next meeting of the board of public works and put it up to that board in person in regard to action on the resolutions introduced by the council in regard to street work. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

President Heiselman appointed as the committee Aldermen Epstein, Zucca and McGrane.

Mrs. Hergman Present

Mrs. Adah Hergman was given the privilege of the floor and said that she owned a building that had been vacant for some time, but that the water board charged her with water rent and when she got her city tax bill it was to find the amount of the water bill included in the city taxes. She said she went to the city treasurer's office to pay the city taxes and they refused to accept the tax money unless she also included the amount of the water tax, amounting to $5.85.

President Heiselman advised her to pay the disputed bill and said he would refer her objection to having water bills included in tax bills to Alderman Doherty who would make an investigation and if her complaint was justified the council would likely take action to have her given a refund.

Foxhall Avenue Sewer

Alderman Schwenk said he saw City Engineer Hallinan present in the council chamber and would like to ask him in regard to what progress was being made on the proposed Foxhall avenue sewer.

Mr. Hallinan said it was a long story but that he would be glad to meet with Mr. Schwenk or any other Aldermen and review the situation. It would take over two hours to explain the situation.

The proposed project was to build a trunk line sewer intended to drain an area of 1,800 acres, and that there was no immediate prospect of the work being started, unless the city wanted to lose money. He said weather conditions at this time were not favorable for construction work on the proposed sewer.

This sewer is listed as an emergency work relief project.

Alderman Schwenk said he would meet with the city engineer on Friday to go over the matter.

Motions and Resolutions

The Aldermen introduced enough resolutions for street work to keep the board of public works busy all summer. Those introduced were:

Alderman Reinhard—that holes in Wilbur avenue be filled and guard rail placed on Chapel street; that holes in Brook street and South Wall street be filled.

Alderman Schwenk—that Farrelly street be repaired; that shoulders be repaired and holes filled on Clifton avenue; fill holes on East Chester street; repair Shufeldt street.

Alderman Haines—that Teller street be repaired.

Alderman Long—that Second avenue be topdressed from Delaware avenue to Moore street, and that Moore street and streets in that vicinity be topdressed; that Third avenue be cut down and topdressed; that Stuyvesant street be topdressed; that rock at corner of Rock street and Ulster street be cut out; that a light be placed on pole 459 on Fourth avenue; that New York Central give people some services from Delaware avenue to Murray street on the crossings as they were so low that it was dangerous for cars to pass over the tracks; that First avenue be graded and topdressed; that Gross street be repaired; that Maple street be repaired.

Alderman McGrane—that Hoffman street, O'Reilly street, Levan street, Staples street, Summer street, West Chester street be given attention.

Aldermen Long and Epstein—that the capacity of the storm water sewer in Murray street, East Pierpont street and Hasbrouck avenue be increased as it was a constant source of trouble.

SAYS DISTRICTS GETTING HALF WHAT THEY EXPECTED.

District Superintendent of Schools J. Hartley Tanner, in the city today, states that the payment of public school money just received at the county treasurer's office, for Ulster county schools, is not half the total amount to be allotted, less retirement, but is half of the first half. In other words, districts are receiving at this time about half of what they expected to receive.

It is stated that another payment may be expected during March, but it is also added that the balance due the districts may be paid in several installments.

Some districts will be greatly embarrassed by this delay in payment of the state money, especially where money has been borrowed in anticipation of receiving the usual allotment, which last year was paid in February.

"I had to cut down on lunches to pay Stocking bills"

... then Miss Betty Ballantine learned a secret that reduced stocking runs 75%

"I had to save on my lunches to pay my stocking bills! Every few days I'd get a run. Then one of the girls in the office told me how much longer her stockings wore since she had been washing them each night in Lux. "It saves the elasticity of the silk," she said—"so your stockings give when you stretch or bend, instead of breaking." She was 100% right! Since I've been using Lux, I've cut down runs about 75%."

YOU, TOO, can save on stocking bills—cut down needless runs—if you wash stockings with Lux after each wearing. Cake-soap rubbing, or soaps containing harmful alkali, too often destroy the elasticity of silk. Then the lifeless threads break, causing runs or holes. Lux saves elasticity—makes stockings fit and wear.

Avoid ordinary soaps—they often contain harmful alkali. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

LUX saves stocking Elasticity

Miss Betty Ballantine, of Newark, New Jersey, discovers a stocking secret every girl can share.

GAS BUGGIES—How To Get A Reputation.

Different Views On Ruth's Attitude Concerning Salary

New York, March 8 (AP)—Babe Ruth's attitude concerning his salary will be the subject of a heated argument between the New York Yankees and the major league baseball players.

Some took the position that Ruth, as the greatest drawing card in the game, is worth as much money as he could get. A somewhat larger percentage believed the slugger was pursuing a poor policy in view of the financial situation.

Backs The Babe. One of the Babe's strongest supporters was Neal O'Hara of Boston. Writing in the Boston Traveler, O'Hara quoted the huge salaries paid radio and motion picture luminaries and then said:

"This is no time to try chiseling the real stars, especially when the stars are as well healed as Ruth. The Yankees will need Babe in there whacking homers this year, you can bet. It is an axiom of the amusement industry that in tough times it takes the topnotchers to lure them to the box office."

Befriends Ruppert. Stony McGinn, columnist of the Philadelphia Record, took the other side of the question.

"Babe Ruth should consider himself lucky to be able to get $50,000 for one season in these days of depression," he said. "He should take it and shake hands with himself and thank Col. Ruppert for making the ante that high. The Babe has made more than a million out of baseball when the making was good, and there's no reason why he shouldn't string along with the rest of us now. Fifty grand is a lot of money and the Babe will make a mistake if he doesn't grab it."

New Yorkers Silent. New York experts, apparently believing Ruth's announcement all part of the usual "ballyhoo" leading up to his signing a contract as usual, have declined almost without exception to comment on the Babe's ultimatum.

Such well-known commentators as Joe Vila of the Sun and Fred Lieb of the Evening Post have suggested, however, that the situation this year is markedly different and that there is every prospect that the Yankees really mean to make Ruth no offer calling for more than $50,000 they originally tendered.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The state of California now can lay claim to another athletic distinction, if the boys along the big slope have not already done so.

It is the only commonwealth in the union contributing at least one delegate to each of the 16 major league baseball clubs.

The representation of Native or Adopted Sons is not only the widest but the biggest.

With the roster of one club, the Boston Braves, still to be double-checked, we have found close to 60 players in the big leagues, giving California as their port of call during the off-season, although a few of them, like Lefty Gomez, have found the call of Broadway's bright lights stronger during the winter than California's sunny dew.

New York and Illinois, represented on 14 of the 16 clubs, come next on the list. Texas claims representation on 13 outfits.

We have still to find a major leaguer on any roster from Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Vermont, or Wyoming, despite the most diligent search of the records.

How'd They Guess It?

The day before Jim Browning tossed the veteran Ed (Strangler) Lewis for Ed's piece of the heavy-weight wrestling championship, the ever-skeptical metropolitan press predicted it would happen, not especially because Browning is a rouser and stronger grappler, but because the fans were becoming a bit weary of the elderly Strangler.

Off the mat Lewis is friendly and likable. He can tell many a good yarn of the old rasslin' days. But far tricks of the younger wrestling generation, the spins and slams and tackles that may not be exactly scientific, but attract the cash customers.

Now the talk is that the bulging, muscled, black-haired Greek, "Jeem" London, greatest of all the wrestling showmen in competition, will make a come-back, toes Browning around and regain the "championship" in New York.

Led Wrestling Revival

London was a central figure in wrestling's rally in the Big Town under the direction of M. Jacques Currier, the Squire of Great Neck, where he is popularly supposed to keep an assorted herd of grapplers, grazing on the gentle slopes of his estate. He is an old-timer, once just a playmate for Lewis, but "Jeem" has the color and personality plus a physique that would make Apollo jealous.

Things went along smoothly, and profitably, until London, fascinated by his own individuality, became temperamental. He resisted dictation and "broke" with Currier's troupe.

Rexalls Again Defeat Zumps

The Rexalls were repaid for their journey from Rosendale to White Eagle Hall Tuesday by a 41-38 victory over Manager "Dolly" Tessio's Z. N. P. Club which tried hard to avenge a setback it received from the old cement town boys several weeks ago, but couldn't make the grade.

Both clubs did plenty of fast playing to entertain and thrill the fans who attended. Leading the Rexalls' attack were Rask and Kopp with 11 and 10 points respectively and Kieffer the "Zumps" scoring parade with 16, highest individual tally of the contest.

The scores: Rexall Aces (41)—P. Rask, rf., 11; Kopp, rf., 10; Auchmoody, lf., 8; Plautz, c., 6; H. Rask, rf., 2; Tyler, lg., 4.

Z. N. P. Quintet (38)—R. Kieffer, rf., 16; Kolob, lf., 4; Kennoch, lf., 7; Mustakiewicz, c., 4; Woinech, rf., 4; Dudek, rf., 1; C. Kieffer, lg., 1; Kosloski, lg., 1.

Score at end of first half—Rexalls 25, Z. N. P. 22. Fouls committed—Rexalls 2, Z. N. P. 22. Referee, Carpino; timekeeper, Tessio; time of halves, 20 minutes.

Judge Clearwater Commends Report

The regular report of the New York State Commission of Probation just published contains a letter of Judge Clearwater, vice-president of the Commission, commending in high terms the reports made to the State Commission of the proceedings in the various counties and cities of the state and the adjudications of the various Judges of the Supreme Court, County Court and judges of the Children's Courts in probation matters, particularly relative to children.

The general public has no comprehension of the extent and value of the work accomplished by this Commission. During the twelve months ending March 1, it collected $2,849,532.20 from men convicted of non-support, and abandonment of their families. It passed upon the application for probation of 25,613 persons convicted of petty larceny, intoxication, assaults, violations of municipal ordinances. Of these cases, 18,497 were discharged with improvement, 3,295 were committed for future observation. Among the serious always and cases presented are those involving girls. Judge Clearwater is noted for his leniency in dealing with the heartrending cases of girls charged with wanton conduct. He has denounced the tendency to treat a single departure from sexual rectitude as a sufficient reason for finally adjudging a girl as a social outcast. In his opinion these unfortunate should receive a more lenient treatment than is meted out to persons guilty of larceny and forgery. He frequently quotes the incident of the woman taken before the Saviour and charged with such a departure and the Pharisee who demanded that she be stoned to death, that the one who was without sin should cast the first stone.

All members of the Southern Choral Club of the Y. M. C. A. are reminded of the rehearsal to be held on Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A. at 8:15 o'clock. X-rays Make Plants Grow

X-ray can cause plants to grow faster, blossom earlier, form more chlorophyll, and in general speed up their life processes. But if they get too much of a dose of the rays, they become crippled. This, in brief summary, is what Prof. Charles A. Shull of the University of Chicago found in experiments.
